I want to create small app such as a ID card reader, calculator, etc. So I wanted to start out with the Visual Studio Express 2013 for Windows Desktop. I wanted to know if anyone has already started developing such kind of apps? How did you start? I have done some development using only Visual Studio 2010 for Windows Phone and Windows Mobile. But I don't know if it is possible to make Windows desktop apps using those versions of Visual Studio only. A: Visual Studio Express is for free "IDE" development. Unlike full-blown Visual Studio, you do not have to pay for its subscription. If you want to develop a Windows desktop app, you can start with Visual Studio Express 2013 for Windows Desktop. You do not need to pay a subscription for that. You can read more on the Visual Studio Express blog:
